I would like to applaud the serious steps which KPC takes to enhance its status locally and internationally. These steps include its participation in different activities; the matter emphasizes the fact that it is not only a reliable resource of oil, but it is also an effective economic entity that optimizes the values of social responsibility. Accordingly, it supports the relation between the economic business and the social activity; the matter will be reflected positively on the life of the individual and the society.

Indisputably, the exhibition of ‘Proud To Be Kuwaiti’ (P2BK) which coincides with the Kuwaiti celebrations of national days is one of the most important activities which KPC participated in this month, as this exhibition has become a national occasion and one of the characteristics of cohesion among the groups of the Kuwaiti society. In this context, KPC represented by International Marketing Sector has recently organized the KPC 2nd Golf Contest for its clients from all over the world. This contest which is considered the biggest forum for the corporation’s clients on Kuwait’s land including several traditional and cultural activities in an aim to let KPC guests be acquainted with the civilizational aspect of the State of Kuwait. In addition, it is also aimed to bolster cooperation with countries all over the world and underpin the Kuwaiti economic relations with the key international oil companies, and reinforce the status and reputation of its activities on top of which the social activity.

As we underline KPC steps in the field of social responsibility, we would like to confirm that these steps are allotted in its 2030 strategic directions which have given a lucrative opportunity to enhance the concepts of social responsibility in the society in an aim to achieve the sustainable development in all fields.
It is the pleasure of KPC News staff to extend their heartfelt gratitude to all colleagues who contributed to KPC News past issues. We will be more than happy to receive even more of your contributions and ideas which will further bolster constructive cooperation and continuous progress.

Held in KPC Spring Camp
KPC platinum patronage for 2nd Kuwait Enterprise Risk Management Confab distinguished

Kuwait Petroleum Corporation patronized the 2nd Kuwait Enterprise Risk Management Conference, which was held from 6-8 January, 2014, as part of its keenness to apply a long-term strategy which is aimed to manage the corporate risks. This strategy is also includes several initiatives which are aimed at improving career skills and efficiency in governance field and operations of oil industry on the level of technology and manpower.

To throw more light on the importance of the conference and the substantial responsibility which Risk Management Department at KPC shoulders, KPC Newsletter interviewed Mr. Mohammad Al-Farhoud, Managing Director of Planning and Finance, Mr. Bader Al-Shumaimri, Manager of Risk Management Department, and Mrs. Iman Al-Gharabally, Team Leader of Corporate Risk Management at KPC.

Mr. Mohammad Al-Farhoud said the 2nd Kuwait Enterprise Risk Management Conference has special importance as it is aimed to highlight the substantial role which KPC plays in managing enterprise risks; besides its status among the international oil companies in this field. It sheds light also on the role of Risk Management Department in this domain under the challenges which companies and institutions confront on the level of the Middle East. These challenges include risks of credit, financial and political crises which influence negatively the economy; the matter leads to applying effective ways of risk management.

How do you assess KPC status compared to its international counterparts in terms of applying risk management system?

Kuwait Petroleum Corporation is considered one of the pioneering international oil companies which apply the enterprise risk management system which was initiated in 2006 in a way aimed to provide the best ways that help preserve the resources of oil resource.

Could you highlight the most important pivots tackled in the conference?

The conference was a lucrative opportunity to discuss several pivots among which what follows:

1. Discussing several important cases in risk management field; among which the governance system required to manage corporate risks.
2. Preparing reports and ways to assess the effectiveness of risks.
3. Considering the role of Risk Management when taking strategic decisions.
5. Providing an appropriate information technology system to manage enterprise risks.
6. Developing work mechanism to accept risks and assess the affordability of managing them.
7. Highlighting stories of success of companies particularly in creating an added value when they have applied the enterprise risks practice.
8. Discussing the way of managing the growing and overlapping risks.
9. Assessing the appropriate criterion for each institution in line with the accredited criteria of risk management.

What are the differences which have been registered in the second conference after one year from launching the activities of the first one?

I perceive that the mechanism of work of one institution cannot be identical to another one. In other words, what is suitable for one institution may not be necessarily applicable for the other institution. Nonetheless, we have received positive reactions from all participants who took part in the first conference, as they were provided with scientific and practical consultations besides the key steps on which Risk Management Department is based.
It is worth mentioning that a large number of experts and specialists in risk management field took part in the second conference from inside and outside Kuwait.
With reference to the beginning of launching risk management system in KPC and its subsidiaries, Bader Al-Shumaimri said Risk Management System was listed for the first time among KPC 2020 strategic plan in 2001. KPC wanted then to provide an effective system to manage risks in the oil sector. This step was the beginning; accordingly, a specialized team has been formed to carry out to collect and organize data and various insurance documents in the oil sector to classify them in five group documents to meet the requirements of the sector in line with reasonable conditions and prices.
“The nature of work at that time necessitated joining specialized engineers to work with the concerned authorities in KPC subsidiaries to improve the level of performance of their risk management departments; in addition to following up the commendations of the international insurance companies with which they deal. These commendations are results of the annual field visits which the international insurance companies pay to the Kuwaiti oil installations,” noted he.
He clarified that KPC established Risk Management Department in 2002 to take on the responsibility of allotting the policy and the general frame of the department in the corporation; in addition to collaborating with its subsidiaries to establish similar programs to share the experience in this domain.
He went on to say that these programs came into effect practically in 2007; the matter has enabled KPC and its subsidiaries to create a special register and clear policy along with specialized committees and technological programs to ease exchanging information and allotting criteria for assessing the performance of risk management departments.
It is worth mentioning that a periodical report is submitted to KPC higher administration, which pays special concern to this field, to be acquainted with any new development in this regard.
As for the step of establishing a risk management system, Iman Al-Gharabally said that new criteria have been added to risk management system in 2009. These new criteria coincided with the preparations accomplished for allotting KPC 2030 strategic directions which necessitated converting the program of enterprise risk management to one of the best practices; in addition to applying such program on all daily activities, 5-year plans and strategic plans of KPC and its subsidiaries.
She clarified that 12 initiatives were allotted in 2010 among a precise risk management strategy. In addition, they were applied immediately after getting the required approvals from the concerned authorities. It is expected to apply all initiatives in the middle of 2014.
On the future projects which Corporate Risk Management Department looks forward to achieving, Al-Gharabally summed them up in the following items:
• We are coordinating diligently with Planning, Finance and Projects departments to add the element of risks in the process of the economic assessment for the capital of the commercial projects.
• We look forward to providing new ways for quantitative analysis of the key risks in the corporation.
• We keep an eye on the risks which are related to the fluctuations of the oil market; in addition, we are seeking to provide effective ways and options to reduce the negative influences of these fluctuations.
Kuwait Petroleum Corporation organized, as its annual habit, a celebration on Thursday February 20, 2014 to mark Kuwait’s Liberation and Independence Days, as employees from KPC and Ministry of Oil mobbed in the lobby of the oil sector’s complex to express love to their beloved Kuwait particularly on such cherished occasion.

Sheikh Faisal Al-Jaber Al-Ahmad Al-Sabah, Deputy Managing Director of Relations and Information Technology, extended his delight over the oil sector’s ostensible participation in the celebrations of the national days, dispatching cables of congratulations to HH the Amir, HH the Crown Prince and the Kuwaiti nation on such occasion.

He indicated that such annual celebrations which KPC is keen on organizing epitomized a good opportunity for the oil sector’s employees to express their belongingness to their homeland. In addition, it is an occasion to renew pledge for more devotion to reinforce the status and name of the Kuwaiti oil industry and the State of Kuwait locally, territorially and internationally.
Training and Career Development Department at Kuwait Petroleum Corporation organized, in collaboration with 5M International for Consultation and Training Institute, a training course for KPC employees on the industrial fires entitled “Industrial fires, ways of controlling them and how to investigate related casualties” on Tuesday February 4, 2014 in the headquarters of the oil sector.

The course includes a number of lectures and workshops in which the lecturers spotlighted the ways of controlling the simple fires and how to activate the emergency plan allotted in such cases. The employees were also briefed on the important first aid which the injured people should be administered to during fires.
